"FOLIAGE FLOTILLA" WAS GREAT SUCCESS SUNDAY

The Foliage Flotilla sponsored by the Youth Fellowship of West Parish Congregational Church on Sunday afternoon was a great success. Forty hearty canoes in 18 canoes added to the Androscoggin River's autumn display of color as they set out from Ordway Campground and paddled through Bethel to the Bennett home in Mayville.

Included in the high-spirited group were 22 middle school and high school youths, five young brothers and sisters, and 13 adults including River Guides Norris and Barbara Brown and the King of Wilson's Rips Arthur Head. All agreed that the Androscoggin River is one of Bethel's least known recreational resources and one that deserves promotion.

Telstar Band is Tops At Fryeburg Fair

On Saturday, Oct. 4, the Telstar Band attended the Fryeburg Fair Parade and was voted top Marching Band of the Fair. Other High School Bands in the parade were Oxford Hills, Old Orchard Beach, Sacopee Valley and Windham.

After the parade announcer was corrected by some very proud band parents, to say that the band was from Telstar and not Old Orchard Beach, the Telstar Band snapped into their performance. At the end of the band's show, which included a rousing, heart-pounding version of Jesus Christ Superstar, and some very fancy marching, the throng of people jammed into the grandstand and along the track erupted into thunderous applause, which continued as the band reformed and marched off down the track.

Due to some school conflicts the Telstar Band's next public performance will be at the Veterans Day Parade in Locke Mills on Nov. 11.

Be watching for news of the first show of the Swingin' Rebel Jazz Band coming soon.

The approval is subject to the favorable action of the Woodstock selectmen.

Elderly Tax Refund

More than 10,000 low-income elderly residents have filed applications in Maine for rent or tax rebates in a program that saw $5.5 million returned to more than 26,000 last year.

The Elderly Householders Tax Rent Refund Act, administered by the State Bureau of Taxation is available to Maine Residents 62 or over or an unmarried widow or widower 55 or over who is receiving federal disability payments and who meet the same income guidelines. To be eligible an individual must have an income of $5,000 or less and couples an income of $6,000 or less. The tax or rent must have been paid by a state resident in 1979.

Applications are available from the Bureau of Taxation, any regional office of the Department of Human Services, the Area agencies on Aging, and the Bethel Town office. Deadline for filing is Oct. 15, 1980.

Many of the states have instituted some form of property tax and rent relief in the last few years. The most popular form of property tax relief is called the "circuit breaker" started in 1964. Since then, 24 states and the District of Columbia have adopted some form of "circuit breaker" property tax relief. Most of these states extend coverage to renters as well as owners of property.

Property tax "circuit breakers" are tax relief programs to help ease the tax burden when the property tax exceeds a set percentage of household income. The circuit breaker generally is a part of the state income tax process in the form of a tax credit against state income taxes. Several states, including Maine, administer their programs separately and use a variation of the circuit breaker concept.

More information is available at the Bureau of Taxation by calling toll-free, 1-800-452-1924.

Andover Public Library

To the universal question, "What's for supper?" the answer might be Chinese, Downeast, Local, or gourmet if you had checked out a cookbook. The Andover Public Library has a variety of cookbooks that can offer recipes and menu ideas to perk up meal-times. And when you're in the library, please excuse our mess. A major housekeeping task has begun. With the help of Mrs. Sheila McKenna of the State Library office, the trustees and both librarians are weeding out the uncirculated and damaged books from the shelves in an effort to relieve overcrowding. Librarian Margaret Learned must now begin the long, slow process of removing author and title cards from the files and striking titles from the acquisition books. Several trustees have volunteered to help, but more volunteers are needed. With the use of volunteers the work will get done faster, will keep library costs down, while maintaining the best possible service for a small library. Become familiar with your library and learn new skills by volunteering.

At the last meeting of the Andover Public Library Association two new trustees were introduced: Mrs. Pamela Berry and Miss Carol Stuart. Both were appointed to fill recent resignations. Also the trustees by unanimous vote, granted permission to the Friday Club to undertake renovations to the downstairs area for a community meeting room. Budget items were discussed at length. The pros and cons of fund-raising activities by the trustees were discussed. It was decided that a used book sale and bake sale some time in the future would be in keeping with library functions. In other business, Librarian Learned told trustees that the extended Thursday hours have been well received to date; and she would like to remind all residents that the library is opened on Tuesday and Saturday from 1:30 to 4:30 as well as on Thursday, 1:30 to 7:00. A few colorful posters urging people to read have been loaned for posting in town. The first one is now hanging in Addie's. Look for new ones periodically.

On Friday, Oct. 3, Librarian Margaret Learned, Evelyn Bell, and Thelma Clark attended the Small Libraries Conference in Winthrop.

Safety Tips of the Week:

The Safe Way to Use Dangerous Products

The following tips will help you and your family deal with hazardous chemicals with greater safety:

—Don't sniff chemicals to identify them. Always label containers if you transfer a chemical from its original container.

—Don't mix household chemicals. Poisonous gases can result from mixing some chemicals—this can cause serious burns or even death.

—Don't use industrial-strength chemicals in the home. Ventilation in small rooms is not adequate for the proper use of most industrial-strength cleaners.

—Don't forget to wash your hands after using chemicals. Contamination of food is possible if you do not wash after coming in contact with chemicals.

—Don't smoke while using aerosol sprays. Some propellant aerosols are highly flammable.

—Don't install insulation without using a respirator mask. Breathing the particles of asbestos or fiberglass can cause breathing difficulties, lung irritations and possible cancer. If you must use these insulating materials, use caution.

—Don't allow children to use arts and craft materials without adult supervision. Many paints, glues, and clays contain toxic materials—these should be used only under supervision, following labeled directions.

On the whole not a very good week end. The foliage seemed at its peak this week as in some places they have already fallen, spreading a carpet of red, orange, yellows, rust and variegated colors.

Ira had flown in from North Carolina to Portland Thursday and wanted to take a ride to see the never ending display of beauty Jack Frost paints for us every year. Frank said that Dad Gibson once said that he didn't think there was a prettier spot than Chapman Valley on this road. I agree but what we see every day we don't seem to notice. We did take a picnic Sunday and went up to Berlin and through the 13 mile woods.

The places where the trees grow by the waters (and yes, it cleared up a little) the reflection of the trees were seen in the waters giving us a double view. In places, looking across all I could think of were huge bouquets seeing the distant mountains with their colors with just enough soft wood growing to give greens.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aylward had their son, Donny and Rupert Grover, help them put on steel roofing week end before last. Liza Aylward and friend from Connecticut, were also up and helped.

September 30 Frank and I had supper with the Aylwards and as always had an overabundance.

Some of the ones going to Fryburg Fair at different days were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine and family, Vince Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman with Jim Orino and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hutchinson of Bethel, Mr. and Mrs. John Laban and family and Mrs. Edith Smith and Andy. Sunday River

Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres.
Sent in by Eva Yates:

We have the usual weather this morning. Cloudy and a chance of showers. No real rain or sunshine predicted. The foliage is beautiful that is if one catches a look at it when the sun pops out for a few seconds. The Go Shoes have been so busy lately the soles have smoked by spells. Joe and Eva Yates were in Norway and Bridgton, Monday, Oct. 5, Peggy Blake was in Rumford. When evening came the three of us were at Franklin Grange at Bryant Pond where Peggy was acting Master and Joe was secretary. As always had a good time—that is where we all joined Grange the first, so it's home to us.

Bear River Grange will meet downstairs in the hall Oct. 11 for their regular evening meeting. It will be preceded by the usual pot luck supper. I'm sure the new Lecturer will have a good program. All Grangers are welcome so don't be bashful and hang back. Just come.

Sunday afternoon callers of Peggy Blake and Eva and Joe Yates were Kaye Perry, Velma Perry and Prudence Creamer of Berlin, N. H.

Dorta Becker and Eva and Joe Yates were Sunday dinner guests of Peggy Blake.

The dance at Bear River Grange Hall Saturday night was not the whang banger we had hoped for. People just did not cooperate as we had hoped and they were the losers as the music was excellent and those that did come bragged the time up as super and all had a good time and asked if we could not have more. Thanks to the music makers and to all who helped in any way.

Maude Harrington called on Julia Fleet Wednesday afternoon, then she had supper with the Gerald Harrington family as it was Barker and son, Danny. Sunday callers were Jessie Gilman and daughter, Jean, of Rumford and Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Butler Dunn of Ellsworth, called.

We Thank Thee Lord
For each hour of each day,
For each minute spent at play,
For the seed you helped us sow,
For the blessed things that grow—
We Thank Thee, Lord.

For the roses wild that run,
For the trees that shade the sun,
For the rainbows brilliant blend,
For the shadows that you send—
We Thank Thee, Lord.

For the men who raise the wheat,
For the bread we get to eat—
For the cattle that we need,
For the pastures where they feed—
We Thank Thee, Lord.

For our humble, small abode,
For the blessings You bestowed,
For the roof that shields the storm,
For the walls that keep us warm,
We Thank Thee, Lord.

GEN. ALGER RETIRES FROM GOULD ACADEMY BOARD

At the fall meeting of the Gould Academy Board of Trustees held this past Friday and Saturday, Alan Ordway, President of the Board, announced the retirement from the Board of Lt. General J. D. Alger. General Alger has been a member of the Board for nearly 31 years and during that time he has served as a member of several committees to include the Local Affairs Committee. At the Trustees' meeting he was elected a Trustee Emeritus.

General Alger was graduated from Gould in the Class of 1930 which celebrated its 50th, "Golden", Reunion during the recent Alumni Weekend. The Algers have a residence on Broad Street and spend part of the year in Bethel and the local area.

On the occasion of his retirement from the Board and his 50th Class Reunion, General and Mrs. Alger have established a fund at Gould, the income from which will be used to assist young men and women—local emphasis on those from the local area—who wish to pursue a career of service to our country in the Armed Forces by attending one of the Armed Services Academies. The details of this fund were reported in the Sept. 25 Citizen.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY ANNUAL "WHAT'S IT?" HELD LAST WEEK

Items ranging from a jingle ride brought in by Albert Skilling to a collection of ash from Mount St. Helens contributed by Arthur and Ruth Cummings were among the twenty or so "what's it's" on display at the October meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held last Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Helen Morton of the Program Committee introduced each item to the audience.

Following the "what's it's", Thomas Hubka, associate professor of architecture at the University of Oregon, Eugene, who is on a sabbatical this year, researching Maine farm buildings, gave a slide presentation on Maine's connected farm buildings. Hubka, emphasizing the transitions in farm architecture from the relatively simple structures of the late 18th century to the elaborate ones a century later, advanced the theory that connected farm buildings did not appear until the middle of the 19th century. This was due in Hubka's view to the greater emphasis on farm efficiency resulting from strong competition from western agriculture and the need for Maine farmers to diversify crops in order to survive.

During the business portion of the meeting, Vice President Donald Bennett, who presided, called

Letters to the Editor

To the Citizens of Locke Mills, Greenwood, Woodstock, Bryant Pond, West Paris and Sumner:

Are you aware that as of April 1, 1981, the ambulance service provided our area by Pete Andrews will be terminated? We are at the crossroads where decisions have to be made as to how our emergency health care needs will be provided. Several options are open to us, but we must decide very soon which one we will choose.

Option #1: Contract with a private ambulance service to provide service to our towns.

Option #2: Contract with a private ambulance with volunteer first responders in each town to assist the injured until the ambulance arrives.

Option #3: Complete volunteer unit subsidized by the towns for equipment, training costs, etc.

Option #4: Complete volunteer unit supported by donations.

Option #5: Unit supported by donations, staffed by volunteers with a paid coordinator subsidized with tax dollars from the town serviced.

This is a very important decision which must be made and will ultimately effect every citizen in the area as well as our many seasonal visitors. It is imperative that each of us accept our responsibility to assist with this decision and offer whatever assistance we can.

October 15 at 7:00 p. m. all citizens are asked to meet at the Town Hall in Bryant Pond to address this issue and set a course of action.

Representatives of private ambulances and volunteer units will be at the meeting to discuss the dollar costs of the various options and other considerations involved with each option.

If you have further questions or are interested in becoming actively involved with this decision call the selectmen of your town.

The Selectmen of Greenwood, Woodstock, West Paris, Sumner

COMPREHENSIVE JR. RACING PROGRAM BEGINNING THIS FALL AT SUNDAY RIVER

Sunday River is pleased to announce the addition of John Howe to its staff as Director of the Junior Racing program. John brings to Sunday River a wealth of experience in both the ski industry and as an ex-racer and coach. He clearly states both his plans and goals for the program and they are all certainly viable ones if the young racers are serious and want to advance. "The plan is to provide a co-ordinated environment of a major mountain, man-made snow and season long intensive coaching." "The goal," he continues, "is to develop junior racers who can reach their maximum potential in skiing and compete in Eastern sanctioned competition as a training ground for college and national caliber racing."

Further, he intends the program to be a long term one aimed at serious junior racers with previous USEASA or Nastar racing experience and who will grow with the program for a number of years.

Dryland training will be held on Sundays beginning Oct. 12 from 1-3 p. m. Racers will meet at the main base lodge. Once conditions permit and on snow training is possible, sessions will run from 8-10 a. m. and 2-4 p. m. on week ends and school holidays. During the week, sessions will be held on Wednesdays from 2-4 p. m.

Most recently Howe has been employed by AMF-Head as Director of Product Development and Vice President of Engineering.

ELEANOR GORDON GUILD

The Eleanor Gordon Guild will meet at the home of Debbie Adams on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15 at 7:30. Wilma Gorman will offer devotions. This will be a craft meeting.

for volunteers to serve on the various committees of the society: art, investment, garden and grounds, education and research, museum, buildings, craft, special projects, membership and program. Any society member wishing to join any of these committees should call the Society office at 824-2908. Bennett also announced that the 1981 calendar is available which features photographs of the 1891 and 1931 celebrations in anticipation of the 200th anniversary celebration in August of 1991.

It was also announced that the Society is sponsoring a harpichord concert Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the meeting room on Oct. 19. Tickets will be available soon and all interested are urged to hear Audrey Green who has performed both in the United States and her native Australia.

Members were reminded that the White Mountain course will begin Thursday, Oct. 9 and continue through the month of October.

The artifact of the month was a Civilian Conservation Corps group photo of Camp Cold River, North Chatham, N. H., dated Aug. 12, 1935, the gift of June B. Greig.

As the next meeting will feature Bethel during World War II, members and guests were urged to bring to the attention of Society Director Society Howe, any photographs or artifacts they might have dealing with the war life in Bethel during that time.

Refreshments followed the program.

The University of Maine at Orono is among the beneficiaries of a $1.5 million grant from the National Science Foundation to study the accumulation of man-made pollutants in peat bogs. The grant, administered by the University of Minnesota, will support the work of a consortium of 13 principal investigators. UMO's principal investigators in the research are Dr. Stephen Norton, geology; and Dr. Charles T. Hess, physics. Some of the pollutants being studied include heavy metals from acid rain.

Fire prevention is also a good idea for the home. With more folks burning wood, the danger for home fires has increased. Remember to inspect your chimney and flue for creosote build-up, and invest in a smoke alarm and fire extinguisher. Fire can wipe out a family home, but more important, fire can also take a loved one.

This week has also been designated "National Consumer Education Week". Forest Service research scientists are working "behind the scenes" to make Forest products more usable and less expensive to the consuming public. Some of the project areas include: improved harvesting techniques, increased use of residues, more efficient processing, proper use of preservative-treated products, and improvements in wood construction.

The District "Open House", held last Sunday afternoon attracted two dozen citizens. In addition to answering questions, District personnel provided information on the land management planning pro-

NOTES FROM Evans Notch

White Mountain National Forest

Autumn has arrived but work in the Evans Notch District goes on as usual. Intensive wildlife work has begun by the Young Adult Conservation Corps members. They are engaged in fall fertilizing and seeding of old logging roads and landings to help stabilize the soil to prevent erosion and to provide food for wildlife in the years ahead.

This is the time of year when the acorns and beechnuts have fallen. Squirrels are gathering nuts and seeds for their winter stores. Insect pests have disappeared. While many of the songbirds have left for warmer lands to the south, blue jays, chickadees and squirrels are among the wildlife that make their presence known out of doors. The clear, sunny days with their pleasant temperatures make it a great time of year to be alive. In the plant world, the asters are still with us since these are among the latest of all plants to blossom.

Campers and hikers should realize that at night the temperature may drop below freezing. It is a rule of thumb that the clearer the day, the colder the night will be. Temperatures fall rapidly as the sun sets, and a night in the woods for the unprepared may turn out to be a very unpleasant experience.

We are now in the midst of the fall foliage season. We are often asked what causes leaves to change color. Green plant leaves contain many chemicals. Examples are the carotenoids which are yellow, brown and orange, and chlorophyll which is green. During the summer months, the predominance of green chlorophyll hides the other colors present. Late in the summer other compounds known as the anthocyanins are produced. These pigments are red and purple but like the carotenoids, are also hidden by the green chlorophyll. In the autumn as the tree prepares for its winter sleep, its maintenance of chlorophyll slows down and finally ceases. The green color fades from the leaves and at the same time another compound called anthocyanin is produced. This material is what gives the red color to fruits such as red apples, purple grapes, blueberries, cherries, strawberries and plums. With the green gone, the other colors are revealed in all their brilliance.

This is National Fire Prevention week. Please remember that with the dying of the smaller plants and the falling of leaves, we enter the fall fire season. Frequently a couple of days of rain will bring the leaves down and on the very first day of sunshine these leaves can become tinder dry and forest and grass fires result. Please be careful with all fire—campfires, cigarettes, matches etc. Be sure they are OUT-DEAD-OUT.

Fire prevention is also a good idea for the home. With more folks burning wood, the danger for home fires has increased. Remember to inspect your chimney and flue for creosote build-up, and invest in a smoke alarm and fire extinguisher. Fire can wipe out a family home, but more important, fire can also take a loved one.

This week has also been designated "National Consumer Education Week". Forest Service research scientists are working "behind the scenes" to make Forest products more usable and less expensive to the consuming public. Some of the project areas include: improved harvesting techniques, increased use of residues, more efficient processing, proper use of preservative-treated products, and improvements in wood construction.

The District "Open House", held last Sunday afternoon attracted two dozen citizens. In addition to answering questions, District personnel provided information on the land management planning pro-

ADULT AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION NEWS

The fall term brings not only the start of classes in the Adult and Community Education program, but also an increased level of activity in the areas of administration and planning on the state level. On Oct. 24, there will be a meeting in Waterville for Directors of the 135 local Adult and Community Education programs in Maine. These meetings are always beneficial. The state consultants for Adult Education present new regulations and policies, and answer questions, and often presentations are made by individuals associated with specific areas such as vocational education or In-service programs. For example, the genesis of last year's Solar class in S. A. D. #44 came from a presentation made in the fall State Directors' meeting. On Oct. 30 and 31, the administrators of the 40
Adult Basic Education programs in Maine will meet in Bangor for their annual meeting, which will feature a combination of presentations, airing of concerns, and explanations of policies and procedures. As with all such meetings, one of the best aspects is the chance to talk with other local directors and exchange ideas.

"Class of the Week" designation this week is shared by two classes. On Tuesday evenings, Dan Hannon is offering an adult co-ed Physical Education class. This class opens the excellent facilities of the Telstar gym to adults, with instruction and practice in a variety of sports and games. Floor hockey is popular as is work with weights and version of indoor lacrosse. New members are always welcome in this course. The other class singled out for attention this week is Don Peeney's Topics in Natural History which meets on October, the artist's parade of wonder and beauty. All leaves are changing color and mountains are bright and gay. I found it so, as we hiked farm fields and Noyes Mountain.

As we looked down the hill to the valley, the pond, and the houses, then lifted our eyes to the hills I began debating with myself, "Is this or is this not the most beautiful autumn that I have ever seen?" And my answer is, "The present is the most beautiful." For the yesterday and tomorrow are far away — one a faint memory, the other only a hazy promise.

As usual we carried our cameras, clicking this scene and that. We had planned to go as far as one of the brightest trees we had spotted but the little old farm road was luring us on through glorious light that brightened the trees red and gold.

The air was clear and quiet but also cool; free from the variations of the warmer months, but not yet charged with the bitter cold to come. Even the horizon seemed pushed back and the sky more lively.

We crossed two fences; one where we moved the bars but the second we had to make a choice giving the heavy gate open, under the banded wire, or through between the wires. We chose the last.

The higher we climbed the more we saw down in the valley and beyond.

Along a wall we came to an apple tree of natural fruit. The had tasted of, and held the warmth of the sun. How rosy they were!

There was a soft blanket of silence over the pond and forest; everything basked in an ethereal and colorful glory.

The leaf shapes were endless — the hand-shaped oak, the oval of the yellow birches, and the jagged teeth of the maple.

The grasshoppers were lively and so were the crickets jumping from the grass beneath our feet. We wandered leisurely for

We had enjoyed autumn's day with its orchestra in full tune. It is the pageant of the year. Each season has its own beauty and inspiration, but autumn is the maturing of the year; celebrating with all its ripeness that has gone before. Here in our climate there is full fruition and beauty each fall.

"I love to see the autumn come" And touch the wooded hill. With flaming torch she lights the trees;

Above, the haze stands still. The world is caught in peace today;

All time has stopped to greet This moment of bright splendor When fall and summer meet."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

to effectively and tastefully promote Christmas shopping in Bethel. Many merchants are convinced that residents unnecessarily travel out of town to do their Christmas shopping while gift items on Bethel's shelves go unnoticed. Thus, part of the meeting will be devoted to how local merchants can improve local marketing.

The second topic for discussion at Friday's meeting will be the winter activities connected with skiing and winter vacationing. The main item of chamber interest is the February winter carnival which has in the past allowed for the successful cooperation of business and non-profit organizations along with Gould Academy events. The question which has been raised is whether or not to attempt to stage a carnival queen coronation night with additional live entertainment.

The third general area of chamber interest which requires more discussion by local retailers and innkeepers is that of a newly established meetings and conventions program. This program has already attracted some substantial support from four of the chamber's members involved in supporting meetings, conferences, family reunions and annual conventions. The question to be answered is how large and how active should Bethel's program be.

Finally, the question of summer vacation advertising is already in the laps of the chamber's director. Decisions on committing funds for next spring and summer will have to be made at this meeting because deadlines for key publications are approaching.

BETHEL WATER DISTRICT

bill's accuracy, the amount of water each customer has consumed and the quarterly meter readings. A number of customers have experienced extraordinarily high bills one quarter each year which often causes an unexpected dent in the family budget. This is caused by the District's not knowing the quarterly water consumption. Therefore, our customers are urged to fill out the meter reading inserts sent with each bill and return them by mail to the District. If this is done regularly, then these customers can avoid high bills unless their actual water consumption is unusually high.

"The District prefers that bills be paid by mail, but for the convenience of those who would rather pay when they are in town, they may do so starting Monday, Oct. 13, at Prim's Pharmacy. When paying in person at Prim's Pharmacy, customers must have their bill with them. Any questions regarding individual bills should be referred to the District office, by telephone at 824-2342 or by stopping by the office on Philbrook Street. If the office is unattended when a call comes in, a telephone answering device has been installed so that the caller can leave name and number for a return call.

"The current billing period is unchanged from previous periods and is Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1980. Terms of payment remain the same—payment required within 30 days. An interest charge of 1% per month is applied to bills not paid after 30 days from the date the bill is sent."

tions fall before the next scheduled general meeting. The amounts of money involved are such that the directors want to obtain the general direction of its members want to take before committing next year's budget to large outlays for advertising that will be out in the marketplace for nearly a year.

The Board of Trustees of the Maine State Retirement System has authorized a 4% cost-of-living increase to all retired teachers, state employees and employees of participating local districts in the Maine State Retirement System, which have accepted the statute provisions providing for such increases.
